

EQUINOX Week: Sustainable Development Goals

Call for Proposals

Join us for the 4th Annual EQUINOX Week during Spring 2021.

The annual EQUINOX Week is a full week of events across the KSU both campuses focused on the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. The events highlight the KSU sustainability efforts and promote further interdisciplinary pathways of scholarship and partnership among the colleges through a range of activities. In particular, the annual Forum series foster the sustainability initiatives and research of our students, faculty, staff, and alumni.

We currently seek proposals on socio-economic-ecological topics for a wide range of activities during the EQUINOX Week.

The call for proposals has currently concluded, and the information below is for information purposes only.

The proposal submission includes:

- Event Title
- Event Description
- Event Type – Delivery format
- Event Date(s)
- Event Location(s)
- Organizers' Info
